Outreach at Northwest Missouri State University

Outreach at Northwest is housed within the Graduate School and the College of Education and Human Services. Northwest supports Outreach as a way to build, maintain and extend quality/rigorous programs that parallel the work of the campus based programs at Northwest. Outreach consists of programs offered off-campus either face-to-face, via Interactive Television (ITV) or in the blended/hybrid model.

Off-campus sites include the Kansas City Center and St. Joseph Center. Other alternative sites can be designed by Outreach in addition to the Centers. For more information about alternative sites, contact the Outreach Director.

Inclement Weather Class Cancellations

The safety of our students and employees is a top priority at Northwest. The University President consults with Northwest’s emergency management coordinator, who closely monitors the forecast, as well as Facility Services and Center personnel, to determine if conditions warrant the closure of campus or extended sites. A combination of snow or ice accumulation, temperatures and wind conditions all factor into the decision.

As with any emergency at Northwest, we encourage students and employees to monitor the Northwest, Kansas City Center, and St. Joseph Center homepages, University email accounts, and official Northwest social media for announcements regarding the latest campus developments. Inclement weather postings can be found via local news outlets as well.
