Statewide Cooperative Doctor of Education Program

About the Statewide EdD Program

Beginning in 1997, the Statewide Cooperative EdD Program was designed to fulfill the needs of leaders in PK-12, postsecondary, and other educational environments across the state.

The EdD is an advanced degree in educational leadership for a variety of executive leadership positions in public and private education and related fields. Since its creation, it has served over 885 Missouri educational leaders.

Why should I choose this program?

The Statewide EdD Program has been lauded by various national and international organizations for its innovative delivery, cohesive curriculum, and rigorous standards.

Mizzou is one of 21 charter institutions participating in the Carnegie Project on the Education Doctorate and one of 62 institutions in the Association of American Universities.

The program is designed to accommodate the busy schedules of practicing professionals. New students are admitted every 2 years.

What students have to say about the program

“This is truly a high-quality program. It is rigorous and intense and enhances my growth as an educational leader.”

“Thank you for this world-class program. It is the best professional development I could ever hope for. I will reap the benefits of this program for the rest of my life.”

“Thank you for allowing me to participate in such a distinguished program. I have utilized all the skills taught in my workplace.”

The Vision of the EdD Program...

The vision is to create scholarly practitioners who transform educational policies, programs, and practices through ethical and compassionate leadership.
