Updated Sept. 2011
Some material is adopted from the Missouri State University Intern Handbook and is used with permission
INTRODUCTION

This Missouri Legislative Internship Program Intern Handbook establishes policies, procedures, benefits, and working conditions for legislative interns as a condition of their service to Northwest Missouri State University.

This Handbook is not a contract of employment nor is it intended to create contractual obligations for Northwest Missouri State University.

The policies and procedures outlined in this Handbook will be applied at the discretion of the Legislative Internship Program Directors.

The Legislative Internship Program Directors will make every effort to notify interns of an official change in policy or procedure, but interns are responsible for knowledge about internship policies, procedures, benefits, and working conditions.

This handbook establishes standards of conduct which cannot be waived without written permission from the Legislative Internship Program Directors. Such a waiver, if granted, applies only to the intern for whom the waiver was granted.

These policies, procedures, and working conditions provide an environment in which both legislator interests and the intern interests are served.

The Legislative Internship Program values the talents and abilities of our interns and seeks to foster an open, cooperative, and dynamic environment in which interns and legislators can thrive. The Legislative Internship Program provides an open door policy in which interns are encouraged to bring problems to the legislative aide or directors at any time.

Please review the policies, procedures, working conditions, and benefits described in this handbook. You will be asked to affirm that you have read, understand, agree to abide by, and acknowledge your receipt of this intern handbook and intern standards of conduct.

All majors are welcome in this program. Legislative Interns may receive up to 12 hours of academic credit for this internship during the spring semester. Interns may enroll in Field Problems in Public Administration and Missouri Politics to total 12 hours or coordinate other academic internship courses related to their field of study with approval from Dr. Michelle Wade and their academic advisor.

FINANCES

Intern Status

Legislative Interns will be identified as students in good standing, which will protect them from early loan payment claims and qualify them to continue to be carried on family insurance plans. If interns receive notices from loan or insurance companies, please contact the Northwest Missouri State University’s Office of the Registrar at 660-562-1151.

Housing Leases

Northwest Missouri State University Resident Life contracts can be terminated without penalty. However, off-campus leases are more rigid and, in the worst cases, may not be broken without legal consequences, resulting in the student either not being able to apply for the program or paying rent at two different locations. Before applying for this internship, off campus students should examine their contracts and comply with the terms listed. If a student is considering applying for the Legislative Internship in the future, it is recommended that he or she sign up for a six months lease only.
Medical Care
It is recommended that students confirm any existing health insurance coverage. Students are often covered by parental health insurance. If the intern is not covered by such insurance, it is recommended that they purchase a Student Health Plan. For information on this optional plan, contact Northwest’s student health insurance carrier at: www.sas-mn.com or visit Bursar’s Office, AD 111 or 660-562-1104.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

Orientation
Intern attendance at orientation is expected.
- Legislative Intern Orientation November
  - Details to be announced
- On-site Training Early January TBA
  - Held in Jefferson City before the session opens
  - Professional dress

Intern Evaluations
All Northwest Missouri State University Legislative Interns will complete evaluations during the internship. Informal annotations will also be recorded by the Jefferson City Legislative Intern Director(s) based on observations made during visits, reports from intern supervisors, and Legislative Intern Panel members. These will be normally used to assist with professional references requested by the interns.

Interns will also be expected to complete the short Pre-Program and Post-Program Assessments to determine the personal progress and learning that took place through the Internship opportunity. In addition, upon completion of the internship, interns will meet with the Legislative Internship Program Director(s) and the Legislative Aide for a one-hour debriefing session.

PROGRAM SPECIFICS

Intern Selection
This is a competitive program with only a portion of all interviewing applicants actually being selected to serve as interns. Those students not selected are encouraged to continue preparing themselves.

Legislator Matches
The interview panel will consider applicants’ interests, attributes, home district, political affiliation and other factors in assigning them to legislators; however, since the legislative internships are comprised of numerous variables, exact matches are not guaranteed. Although interns do not make their own matches, their input is welcomed.

Assignment Options
Periodically, if he or she desires and a vacancy exists, an intern may serve in other offices of elected officials. However, the students in these positions will be required to work extended hours five days weekly, will not get to associate routinely with other legislative interns, and will have a significantly different experience.

Mock Session

Near the date of the legislature’s spring break, Legislative Interns serving in the House receive the opportunity to elect their own legislative officials, form committees, address issues, and hold their own two-day Mock Legislative Sessions on the House Floor. Historically, the interns have occupied leadership positions and set the pace for this event. This opportunity does not currently exist in the Senate. Senate interns desiring to participate in the House Mock Session should inform the MO House Legislative Intern Coordinators and their Senators no later than February 15th. If Northwest Missouri State University interns wish to participate, they must start building votes and coalitions early in the session.

Nondiscrimination Policy

The University emphasizes the dignity and equality common to all persons and adheres to a strict nondiscrimination policy regarding the treatment of individual faculty, staff, and students. In accord with federal law and applicable Missouri statutes, the University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, ancestry, age, disability, genetic information, or status as Vietnam-era veteran, in employment or in any program or activity offered or sponsored by the University.

Any student/intern with questions or concerns about any type of discrimination in the workplace is encouraged to bring these issues to the attention of the Missouri Legislative Internship Program Directors or the Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Officer, who may be contacted at: EEO Officer, Northwest Missouri State University, 800 University Drive, Maryville, Missouri, 64468-6001 (660-562-1128).

Harassment

Northwest’s Commitment

All members of the University community have an interest in increasing and maintaining an environment free from harassment, including sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is a violation of federal and state law, as well as Northwest policy. All faculty, staff, and students need to be aware that they will be subject to disciplinary action for violations of this policy up to and including termination. Northwest is committed to providing an environment in which individuals are treated fairly and with respect. Harassment will not be tolerated under any circumstances within the University’s jurisdiction, whether it is in an academic, employment, residential, or social situation.

Definition of Sexual Harassment

Defined by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (“EEOC”), unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical contact of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

- Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment or academic standing, or
- Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions or academic evaluations affecting such individual, or ▪ Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work or academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working, academic, or social environment.

Examples of conduct that may constitute sexual harassment include:

▪ Verbal: suggestive comments about a person’s clothing, body, or sexual activity; humor or jokes about sex or about gender-related characteristics; sexual innuendos and comments; direct or indirect threats linked to sexual propositions or sexually-explicit questions

▪ Nonverbal: suggestive or insulting sounds (leering, whistling); display of sexually-explicit pictures or photographs; obscene gestures; staring at a person’s physical features

▪ Physical: intentionally brushing a person in passing; inappropriate touching, patting, or tickling; pinching or squeezing; coerced sexual activity and sexual assault

▪ Written: suggestive notes, letters; suggestive E-mail messages, text messages

Additional Points

Every effort will be made to ensure the confidentiality of those who report a complaint or participate in the procedures. Persons making false accusations in harassment cases will be subject to disciplinary action and those who falsely report sexual harassment, use the reporting procedures, or are involved in the harassment procedure, will likewise be subject to disciplinary action.
