

Multiculturalism in Education students meeting in small groups with international students in the ELL program on campus.

Students discuss how the ELL students learn a second language and what teaching strategies work best for them.

The conversation is also about cultural differences between the students and their international peers.

