

About the Office of Human Resources

Mission Statement

The Northwest Office of Human Resources supports the University's mission, values and strategic initiatives. We take active responsibility and support continuous learning and employee development across all units and among all employee classifications. (We are committed to offering equal employment opportunity and providing a discrimination-free environment.) The benefit and compensation programs will be administered fairly and equitably focusing on competitive market-based trends. We strive to be fair, responsive and trustworthy.
