

Ploughoft Lecture Series Presents

Lewis Diuguid

7 P.M. Monday, October 8

The Ron Houston Center for the Performing Arts

Lewis Diuguid is an editorial board member, columnist and letters editor at The Kansas City Star. He has been with the newspaper since May 1977 after graduating from the University of Missouri-Columbia. He is a certified diversity facilitator with the Newspaper Association of America. He has written a column for The Star since 1987 often focusing on education, social justice and diversity issues. He is the author of the 2004 book A Teacher's Cry: Expose the Truth About Education Today and the 2007 book, Discovering the Real America: Toward a More Perfect Union. He has also served as vice president for community resources at The Star.

