Campus Recreation Employee Manual/Handbook

Updated: Spring 2019

Letter from the Coordinator:

Dear Campus Recreation Staff:

It brings me great pleasure to welcome all of you to the department of Campus Recreation, where dreams come true! 😊 We are hired to serve the students, faculty, staff, and the surrounding Northwest community. You are constantly giving first impressions of our department, programs, services, and the University. With this comes the great responsibility of having professionalism, work ethic, and a commitment to service.

However Campus Rec doesn’t merely serve students, faculty, staff, and the surrounding Northwest community. We also serve ourselves. Like most things, you get what you put into your position. The graduate assistants who will be your direct supervisors are examples of this as they have put a lot into their development to be able to be where they are now. However, you don’t have to be a graduate assistant to work hard in your position. If you do this I promise you that you will be better prepared for other positions after you graduate by learning transferable skills necessary for the “real world.”

Holding a part-time job while in college can benefit students by assuming responsibility, building self-esteem, developing work and people skills, generating income, and learning to contribute to the community. Studies have shown that an on-campus job aids students with academic achievement and retention. Student employment is a learning process involving skill acquisition that will have lifelong benefit.

This handbook/manual is intended to assist Student Staff and part-time employees in the performance of their duties. The employee is responsible for all the handbook’s outlined policies and procedures. The employee should also be familiar with the Campus Recreation Staff Modules on Canvas, which are designed to make the Northwest recreational experience more enjoyable and safe for all.

This manual or handbook is intended on giving each employee some basic knowledge of general policies and guidelines for all employees. It is impossible to cover every situation that will occur as you will soon find out through working at the Student Rec Center (SRC), Hughes Fieldhouse (HFH), intramural fields, disc golf course, or at various sport club venues. However, by knowing these guidelines and policies you will be able to apply them to these situations that are not necessarily black and white but instead are grey.

Throughout your time at Campus Recreation you will be evaluated by the AVP, Coordinators, graduate assistants and even your fellow student supervisors both formally and informally. We hope you apply these evaluations to your work and possibly other areas in your life to better the work experience and possibly the student experience during Campus Recreation events. I am looking forward to working alongside you, I won’t ask you to do anything I won’t do. I am not afraid to help so don’t ever be afraid to ask if you have questions. Let’s have high standards, embrace change, and have a strong work ethic while enjoying working at Campus Recreation this year.

Sincerely,

Brooke Byland

Studying, Reading, & Cell Phones/Electronics
- Customer Service is the primary responsibility of all Campus Recreation employees. Do to the nature of the facility and the work required from each staff member, studying is not allowed while on duty. Please note that if you have a “work study” position, that means you have a campus job that helps pay for your education, it does not mean that you study while at work at your job.
- Customer Service is the primary responsibility of all Campus Recreation employees. Staff in certain desk positions may read a book or magazine, as long as it does not interfere with their ability to provide great customer service and fulfill their job responsibilities.
- Use of personal cell phones or any electronic item while working is not permitted. These items are not to be visible or be left out at work stations, nor should they be left charging. Any other breaks shall be discussed with the supervisor.

Work Area Cleanliness
Student Staffs are required to keep their work area neat and free from trash at all times. The building’s custodians are not the only staff responsible for work area cleanliness.

Code of Conduct
- The vast majority of the work in the Campus Recreation Department is done by students for students. The purpose of the department is to serve the University community, the most of which are students. Students pay fees that built and operate the Campus Recreation Department.
- Holding a part-time job while going to college is just as much a part of the learning experience as attending classes. As a Campus Recreation staff member you are expected to conduct yourself in a professional manner. Professionalism includes competence, dependability, punctuality, and the ability to relate to and work with a wide range of people. A student and part-time staff member can develop all of these skills while working in the Campus Recreation department.
- Student and part-time staff should be aware that they are responsible for the enjoyment, health, and safety of all patrons and all participants in Campus Recreation programs. Recreation facilities and programs cannot operate without supervision. These areas can operate more effectively and efficiently when staffed by competent student employees. Dependability and punctuality are two recurring issues, and their solutions rest with the employees themselves. The professional staff can teach work skills; however, the Student Staff is expected to perform them. The professional staff and graduate assistants of the Department of Campus Recreation are committed to helping each individual student and part-time employee meet his/her fullest potential. There are standards that must be met and expectations that must be fulfilled, and if they cannot be some individuals may be better off working elsewhere.
  1. Employees must work their assigned shifts. Persons failing to show up for a shift may be terminated or receive less hours on the work schedule. This includes mandatory staff meetings and training sessions. If a shift is missed, IT IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE SCHEDULED STUDENT STAFF TO FIND A SUBSTITUTE. If you absolutely cannot find a replacement well in advance, discuss options with the GA or direct supervisor. Also, if unexpected events arise, which they will, the department expects to be notified before the assigned shift.
  2. Excessive tardiness is unacceptable and may result in termination. Students who are running late are advised to call ahead. It is NOT easier to ask forgiveness than permission.
  3. Student Staff represent the department even when they are participating in its programs. Student Staff who are ejected from intramural games for arguing will receive a written reprimand. Anyone ejected for fighting will be terminated immediately. The student work force is also expected to abide by all rules including, but not limited to, having proper identification for admittance into the SRC.
  4. Student Staff shall not be in the building unauthorized after hours.
  5. The department’s student and part-time employees are expected to conduct themselves in a professional, customer focused manner at all times. This includes times of crisis and when dealing with “problem” patrons. If employees conduct themselves in such a manner, they will have the unwavering support of the professional staff. Instances when employees lower themselves to the level of the “problem patrons” will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis and may result in termination.

Staff as Participants

All Campus Recreation employees are encouraged to actively participate in a variety of Campus Recreation programs and utilize its facilities. However, employees will be held to a higher standard while participating in activities. Please remember to follow all of the policies and procedures. If any employee fails or refuses to follow policies and guidelines put in place for the Campus Recreation activity or area they may lose privileges and/or receive job-related sanctions. When participating on an Intramural Sport Team, you should not have more than 3 Campus Recreation employees on one team.

Equal Employment Opportunity
Northwest Missouri State University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. The University emphasizes the dignity and equality common to all persons and adheres to a strict nondiscrimination policy regarding the treatment of individual faculty, staff, and students. In accord with federal law and applicable Missouri statutes, the University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, ancestry, age, disability, genetic information, or status as Vietnam-era veteran, in employment or in any program or activity offered or sponsored by the University. The University also provides equal employment opportunities with reasonable accommodation, when appropriate, to qualified applicants and employees with disabilities. An employee with questions or concerns about any type of discrimination in the workplace is encouraged to bring these issues to the attention of the Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Officer, who may be contacted at: EEO Officer, Northwest Missouri State University, 800 University Drive, Maryville, Missouri, 64468-6001 (660-562-1128). Employees found to be engaging in any type of unlawful discrimination will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. Copies of the University’s Equal Employment Opportunity (“EEO”) Guidelines are available in the Office of Human Resources.

Harassment
Northwest’s Commitment to All members of the University community have an interest in increasing and maintaining an environment free from harassment, including sexual harassment. Sexual harassment, including sexual violence, is a violation of federal and state law, as well as Northwest policy. All faculty, staff, and students need to be aware that they will be subject to disciplinary action for violations of this policy up to and including termination. Northwest is committed to providing an environment free from harassment, including sexual harassment. Sexual harassment, including sexual violence, is a violation of federal and state law, as well as Northwest policy. All faculty, staff, and students need to be aware that they will be subject to disciplinary action for violations of this policy up to and including termination. Northwest is committed to providing an environment free from harassment, including sexual harassment. Sexual harassment, including sexual violence, is a violation of federal and state law, as well as Northwest policy.

The Definition of Sexual Harassment/Sexual Violence Defined by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (“EEOC”), unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical contact of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

- Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment or academic standing, or
- Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions or academic evaluations affecting such individual, or
- Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work or academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working, academic, or social environment. Examples of conduct that may constitute sexual harassment include:
  - Verbal: suggestive comments about a person’s clothing, body, or sexual activity; humor or jokes about sex or about gender-related characteristics; sexual innuendos and comments; direct or indirect threats linked to sexual propositions or sexually explicit questions
  - Nonverbal: suggestive or insulting sounds (leering, whistling); display of sexually explicit pictures or photographs; obscene gestures; staring at a person’s physical features
  - Physical: intentionally brushing a person in passing; inappropriate touching, patting, or tickling; pinching or squeezing; coerced sexual activity and sexual assault
  - Written: suggestive notes, letters; suggestive E-mail messages, text messages

Reporting Procedure Early reporting and intervention have proven to be the most effective method of resolving actual or perceived incidents of harassment.

If you feel you have experienced or observed any form of unlawful harassment, please take the following actions:

- Promptly advise the offender(s) that the conduct is unwelcome and request that it be stopped immediately. Northwest Missouri State University
- Document the incident as to date, time, place, witnesses, and nature of the incident.
- Report the incident to the EEO Officer immediately. In all cases, the EEO Officer or his or her designated representative will be available to hear complaints. The EEO Officer can be contacted at: EEO Officer, Northwest Missouri State University, 800 University Drive, Maryville, Missouri, 64468-6001 (660-562-1128). Additional Points Every effort will be made to ensure the confidentiality of those who report a complaint or participate in the procedures. Persons making false accusations in harassment cases will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. Persons, who retaliate against those who report sexual harassment, use the reporting procedures, or are involved in the harassment procedure, will likewise be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Consensual Amorous Relationships in General
There are special risks in any sexual or romantic relationship between individuals in inherently unequal positions, and parties in such a relationship assume those risks. In the University context, such positions include (but are not limited to) supervisor and employee, senior faculty and junior faculty, mentor and trainee, and professor and student. Because of the potential for conflict of interest, exploitation, favoritism, and bias, such relationships may undermine the real or perceived integrity of the supervision and evaluation provided. Such relationships may be less consensual than the individual whose position confers power or authority believes. The relationship is likely perceived in different ways by each of the parties to it, especially in retrospect. Moreover, such relationships may harm or injure others in the academic or work environment. Relations in which one party is in a position to review the work or influence the career of the other may provide grounds for complaints by third parties when that relationship gives undue access or advantage, restrict opportunities, or creates a perception of these problems. Furthermore, circumstances may change, and conduct that was previously welcome may become unwelcome. Even when both parties have consented at the outset to a romantic involvement, this past consent does not remove grounds for a charge based upon subsequent unwelcome conduct after notice is given that such conduct is no longer welcome. Where such a relationship exists, the person in the position of greater authority or power will bear the primary burden of accountability, and must ensure that he or she, and this is particularly important for teachers, does not exercise any supervisory or evaluation function over the other person in the relationship. Where such recusal is required, the recusing party must also notify his or her supervisor or department head, so that such supervisor or department head can exercise his or her responsibility to evaluate the adequacy of the alternative supervisory evaluative arrangements to be put in place. Student employees, may instead, as an option, notify the Office of Human Resources. To reiterate, the responsibility for recusal and notification rests with the person in the position of greater authority or power. Failure to comply with these recusal and notification requirements is a violation of this policy, and therefore grounds for discipline, up to and including termination.

With Students the University will view it as unethical and a violation of this policy if University employees engage in sexual or romantic relationships with students enrolled in their classes or subject to their supervision. Such employee-student relationships may include, but are not limited to, faculty and student, advisor and advisee, teaching assistant and student, coach and athlete, the individuals who supervise the day-to-day student living environment of student residents, student employee and student, and student employee supervisor and student employee. The behavior is, in most cases, unethical even when the relationship is consensual (i.e., both parties have consented), because the voluntary consent of the student is in doubt, given the power imbalance in the student-employee relationship. Even if consent were to be shown, a clear conflict of interest would still exist which might create the appearance of discrimination or favoritism in grading or access to educational opportunities.

Relationships between a graduate student and an undergraduate student, when the graduate student has some supervisory responsibility for the undergraduate student, are covered by this policy. An employee with questions or concerns about consensual amorous relationships in the workplace is encouraged to bring these issues to the attention of the EEO Officer.

Disability and Reasonable Accommodation
Northwest’s Commitment Northwest Missouri State University is committed to providing an accessible and supportive environment for employees with disabilities. Equal access for qualified employees with a disability is an obligation of the University under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (“ADA”), and the ADA Amendments Act of 2008 (ADAAA).

The University does not discriminate on the basis of disability against otherwise qualified individuals in any program, service or activity offered by the University. The University is committed to ensuring that no otherwise qualified individual with a disability is excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently than other individuals because of the absence of auxiliary aids or other appropriate services; however, accommodations cannot result in an undue hardship to the University or fundamentally alter the essential functions of the job.

Reasonable Accommodation:
A modification or adjustment to a position, an employment practice, or the work environment that makes it possible for a qualified individual with a disability to perform the essential functions of the position. Examples of reasonable accommodations may include, but are not limited to: (1) making existing facilities readily accessible to and usable by persons with disabilities; (2) job restructuring, modifying work schedules, reassignment to a vacant position; or (3) acquiring or modifying equipment or devices, adjusting or modifying examinations, training materials, or policies, and providing qualified readers or interpreters.
Procedure to Request a Reasonable Accommodation
Applicant and employee requests for reasonable accommodations shall be made to the Office of Human Resources. Supervisors or representatives of the Office of Human Resources receiving a request should immediately contact the EEO Officer for guidance.

Appeals/Grievance Procedure In the event an employee disagrees with the determination and/or proposed accommodation, he or she may contact the EEO Officer. Confidentiality All necessary steps will be taken to ensure the confidentiality of information pertaining to an employee’s disability or request for accommodation. Information should be shared on a limited basis with supervisors or department heads regarding necessary accommodation, first aid, emergency procedures, and insurance companies, as necessary. All medical records of employees are kept in separate confidential files.

Implementation and Responsibility:
Employees are responsible for initiating requests for any desired disability related workplace accommodations. Requests by non-faculty employees should be made to supervisors or to the Office of Human Resources; faculty employees should contact their department head or the Office of Human Resources. Supervisors/Department Heads are responsible for receiving requests for workplace accommodations, informing employees of the process and referring requests to the Office of Human Resources. Supervisors are also responsible for initiating a discussion concerning accommodations when they have reason to believe that an employee’s disability precludes the employee from initiating a request. Supervisors should inform the Office of Human Resources of all requests for accommodations. Office of Human Resources is responsible for evaluating the request, determining what type of documentation is necessary, and determining if the requested accommodation is appropriate and effective. Definitions Disability: The term “disability” means, with respect to an individual—(a) a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of such individual, (2) a record of such an impairment; or (3) an impairment that is episodic or in remission if it substantially limits a major life activity when it is active.

Substantial Limitation:
An impairment is substantially limiting if it prohibits or significantly restricts an individual’s ability to perform a major life activity as compared to the ability of the average person in the general population to perform the same activity. The determination of whether an impairment substantially limits a major life activity depends on the nature and severity of the impairment, the duration or expected duration of the impairment, and the permanent or long-term impact of the impairment.

Major Life Activity:
A major life activity is defined as the act of caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working. A major life activity also includes the operation of a major bodily function, including but not limited to, functions of the immune system, normal cell growth, digestive, bowel, bladder, neurological, brain, respiratory, circulatory, endocrine, and reproductive functions.

Qualified Individual with a Disability:
An employee or applicant for employment who, with or without a reasonable accommodation can perform the essential functions of the position.

Essential Job Function:
The fundamental duties of the position or the primary reasons the position exists. The University does not have to eliminate an essential function from the position, nor does it have to lower quality or performance standards to make an accommodation, as long as those standards are applied uniformly to employees with or without a disability. The University does not have to create a new position to accommodate an employee.

Undue Hardship:
An accommodation or action requiring significant difficulty or expense when considered in light of factors such as the University’s size, financial resources, and the nature and structure of its operation. Undue hardship also refers to an accommodation that is unduly expensive, substantial, or disruptive, or one that would fundamentally alter the nature of the position.

At-Will Employment
Unless otherwise agreed in writing signed by the Board of Regents and subject to these policies and any applicable law, all University graduate assistants are employed on an at-will basis. This means that employment is not guaranteed for any specific duration of time, and the University retains the right to terminate an individual’s employment at any time, with or without cause. No oral representations made by a University employee with respect to continued employment can alter this relationship. Likewise, no statement made in this Graduate Assistant Handbook is intended to alter the at-will nature of employment with the University.

The University has the right to require an employee to undergo alcohol and/or drug testing when there is a reasonable suspicion that the employee might be under the influence of alcohol or drugs. Any employee who does not abide by this policy is subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination, or satisfactory participation in an educational, assistance or rehabilitation program related to alcohol or drug abuse and approved by federal, state, local health, law enforcement, or other appropriate agency. Costs for the rehabilitation will be the responsibility of the employee. The decision on the severity of action will depend, in part, upon the nature of the offense, the sensitivity of the position held, and the outcome of participation in the program described above. Employees must abide by the terms of this policy and report to the University any conviction or guilty plea under a criminal drug statute for violations occurring on or off University premises. A report of a conviction must be made to the Office of Human Resources within five (5) days after the conviction or guilty plea.

The University does not condone the abuse of alcohol and drugs; it does, however, recognize that employees with alcohol or drug-related problems should be encouraged to seek help in dealing with such problems. Student employees are encouraged to use the University Wellness Services, as appropriate, when facing alcohol and drug related problems.
