Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Unduplicated number of males enrolled in 2017-18	<input type="text" value="7"/>

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. ## Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2017-18. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2017-18 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

In response to the item, "Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects," the alternative certification candidates must have a bachelor's degree with an academic area of concentration. All would have also completed the general education requirements for their bachelor's degree. Activities in the AC education classes require students to work with the academic content as they plan for their students in their classrooms. These classes involve discussion, modeling and developing plans using differentiated instruction, parallel lesson design, use of strategies to address various learning styles, etc. Imbedded in the lesson plan format and models are strategies to meet needs of students with special needs. The Alternative Certification Curricula addresses this issue in several different ways. We include class discussion, modeling and lesson plans for Differentiated Instruction, Parallel Lesson design, Learning Styles and Mastery Learning. Imbedded in all of these models are strategies to meet students with special needs. Differentiated Instructional Strategies that we discuss, model and include in lesson plans include:

1. Content: Students focus on presenting material in multiple ways to accommodate learners.
  - Use multiple elements and materials to support instruction.
  - Align tasks/objectives, activities and assessments with learning objectives.
  - Instruction is concept-focused and principle-driven.
  - Consider learning styles when introducing, teaching, and assessing materials. Examples: Reciprocal Teaching, Graffiti, Scavenger Hunt, Walking Tour, Corners, Videos
2. Process: Providing students with multiple options for making sense of the ideas presented.
  - Flexible grouping
  - Cooperative Learning
  - Peer tutoring
  - Classroom management Examples: Think-Pair-Share, Learning Buddies, Jig saw, Line Ups, Team Mates Consult
3. Product: Providing students with multiple options to show what they know and can do.
  - Pre-assessment to establish a baseline for instruction.
  - Pre-assessment to establish learning groups for content presentation.
  - Establishing multiple ways to assess including formal and informal assessments.
  - Focusing on the active engagement of the learner.
  - Varying types of post assessments or evaluations. Teachers learn to assess using alternative procedures, varied degrees of difficulty, and varied ways to express responses. Examples: Ticket to Leave, Signal Cards, Journals, Consensus Conclusions, Collection Connect Parallel Lesson Plans: Students are introduced to Parallel lesson design in 61-615 & 61-617 and expected to master these skills in 61-616. Parallel lesson plans are presented which include differentiated instructional strategies in the areas previously mentioned. Learning Styles: Students are required to create lesson plans that address various learning styles. Activities are designed to address social, solitary, visual, aural, verbal, logical and kinesthetic learners. As part of this unit students learn about their own profiles and preferences. Students also learn that most teachers do not mirror the norm in their learning preferences. They are taught to address various learning styles by creating activities that foster seeing, hearing, manipulating, and feeling data when possible. All lessons are expected to include activities that include individual and group work. For example, Think-Pair Share activities are expected and required during every observation. Mastery Learning: The concept that all students can learn if given enough time and provided appropriate instruction is stressed throughout 61-614, 61-615 and 61-617. Lesson Plans and Unit Plans are required to include the components of Mastery Learning. Students must create measurable objectives that are reinforced by initial, enrichment and corrective activities. The concepts of giving students a second chance to learn and earn a grade are nurtured and encouraged. Students also learn and practice the concept of "spiraling back" especially in skill building curriculum areas. Basic responsibilities regarding IEP conferences and responsibilities are addressed for both special education and mainstream teachers in 61-614. We do this because most special education teachers in Alternative Certification have no experience in these areas when they begin. Specific instruction is given regarding the discipline and grading of SPED Students. Manifestation Determination in regards to suspension and removal from class are discussed so that the teacher understands why special education students may be treated differently. The Alternative Certification Curricula addresses this issue in several different ways. We include instruction in Multi-Culture/Diversity, Differentiated Instruction, Parallel Lesson Design, Learning Styles and Mastery Learning. Imbedded in all of these models are strategies to meet the needs of students with language deficiencies. The same strategies that were listed for students with disabilities are also applicable to LEP students. The concepts included in differentiated instruction and parallel lesson design are valid and appropriate for LEP students. Developing a toolbox of instructional strategies to help students become better readers and help provide support for that area in the classroom. Strategies have included teachers may have to develop notes or different worksheets to provide support for the language barrier. Building relationships and establishing a safe climate in the classroom to enhance learning. Teachers may have to establish home visits to establish a sense of trust within the family structure to reach the children. Other suggestions have been to place books on tape for families that have children that are struggling and panels of teachers within the school system to work together to help that student become successful in the classroom. A lot of emphasis has been placed on teachers having to work collaboratively for the success of the student rather than remaining alone to face issues in isolation. Develop networks and join list-serves online to establish a support system for issues that arise in the classroom.

Imbedded in all of these models are strategies to share and review Internet sources, building PowerPoint's, web quests, scoring guides/computer generated rubrics, as well as methods of managing grade books and other classroom tools through technology. All undergraduate and graduate students in educator preparation programs are required to purchase and use Tk20, an online data assessment system. Education students use Tk20 to upload and store coursework and video files. Since fall 2012, candidates store materials in online portfolios and a field experience data section. Course instructors, advisors, university supervisors and cooperating teachers provide feedback and evaluations for candidates on Tk20 as well.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request.  \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(G\)\)

1. Does your program prepare general education teachers to:

a. teach students with disabilities effectively

- Yes
 No

b. participate as a member of individualized education program teams

- Yes

c. teach students who are limited English proficient effectively

- Yes

2. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares general education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

All alternative certification teachers take 61-614, Introduction to Teaching and 61-615/61-17 Organizing for Learning I and II. All non-SPED teachers take 61-616, Teaching Strategies, while all SPED teachers take a group of M.S. classes in special education. These courses, along with relevant experience in their classrooms, provide all alternative certification teachers the opportunity to acquire knowledge and develop competency in the following areas: methodology, instructional design, motivational techniques, assessment strategies, and management of student behavior. Alternative certification teachers develop skills in writing behavioral and measurable objectives based on local, state, and/or national standards and adapting those objectives when necessary to meet special needs of students. Also incorporated are discussions around diversity, including such topics as educational equality, equity, expectations, and the need to work to eliminate the gaps that currently exist for some minority groups. One of the purposes is to eliminate stereotypes or misconceptions that teachers may have about various groups. Content: Using the differentiated Instruction model, students learn to look for multiple resources for instruction and lesson presentation. Computer driven lessons, leveled reading materials, video, audio and educational games are discussed. Process: Numerous activities and strategies are discussed to provide LEP students with one on one instruction or small group learning opportunities. Cooperative learning, which includes strategies such as Jig Saw, Learning Buddies, Learning Links, Reciprocal Teaching, Discussion Partners, Peer Tutors, Learning Links and Think-Pair-Share, are discussed and included in lesson plans by Alternative certification teachers. Product: Alternative certification teachers are made aware of limitations that LEP students have when it comes to reading and writing assessments outside their native language. Alternative assessments are emphasized with learning and applying content being more important than grades and grading. Verbal assessments and/or performance tasks with interpreters are encouraged when possible. Alternative certification teachers are instructed to seek other bi-lingual school and community resources to interpret, tutor and reinforce classroom lessons. Other resources, including ESL Programs, online ESL modules, and DESE Regional Consultants are also identified and discussed. They are encouraged to seek assistance from Building and District Administrators for these additional services and resources. Through this course students will determine what is working for them in their classroom and how to monitor and adjust all aspects of the curriculum to determine how to make improvements in their teaching for all students' learning.

Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

In addition to each alternative certification student initially taking 61-614 Introduction to Teaching, and 61-615 and 61-617 from the information above, each special education alternative certification student will follow the prescribed courses during their remaining 2-year commitment. Alternative certification teachers have instruction in planning and modifying instruction to provide instruction for special needs children. Each of these courses has its own unique strength in providing the alternative certification teacher with knowledge and understanding about mild to moderate disabilities representative of the multicategorical fields of learning disabilities, mental retardation, emotional/behavior disorders, and physical and other health impaired. Spiral learning occurs throughout each course to include the administration and interpretation of the most commonly used individual tests of cognitive functioning and achievement tests used to diagnose pupils for placement in reading and special education programs. Several methods discussed during coursework include strategies to assist parents in working with exceptional children and sources available through print and the Internet as well as other classroom teachers. Instruction is also provided to assist each alternative certification teacher the ability to serve on IEP teams. With regard to teaching LEP students, see the information below: Process: Numerous activities and strategies are discussed to provide LEP students with one on one instruction or small group learning opportunities. Cooperative learning, which includes strategies such as Jig Saw, Learning Buddies, Learning Links, Reciprocal Teaching, Discussion Partners, Peer Tutors, Learning Links and Think-Pair-Share, are discussed and included in lesson plans by Alternative certification teachers.
